THE MORNING PARADE

Memorial day exercises will be held tomorrow under the direction of the Grand Army of the Republic in all the cemeteries about Washington where are buried sol-diers who fought for the Union in the late war. Distinguished orators and poets will exploit the deeds of the patriot dead, and fair hands will strew flowers over the soldiers' graves. The program is even more elaborate than usual, formal services be ing arranged for in some of the cemeteries where hitherto there has been no recognition of the day beyond the strewing of flowers. The official program, as finally completed today, is as follows:

General Parade. 1. The escort, consisting of detachments from the regular troops forming the garrison of Washington, will assemble at 9:30 a.m. on Pennsylvania avenue, with head of column on 6th street.

2. The posts of the Grand Army, including their armed constituents, the Old Guard, and their armed auxiliaries, the Logan Camp Guard of the Sons of Veterans, will form in double-ranked line promptly at 9:45 a.m., on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue, the right of the line on 14th street; extending westward, as far as necessary, in a compact formation. The Capital City Guard will form on the left of the Logan Camp Guard. The line will be formed by Comrade W. H. Doollttle, chief of staff, assisted by Comrade Michael Mahany, officer of the day. In addition to the Marine Band, the Mount Pleasant, John B. Henderson and Victor drum corps will be in the column, and their places and distribution in the parade will be fixed by the chief of staff in such manner as to insure the best musical and marching results.

3. The following named posts, having been assigned to Memorial day duty elsewhere, will not appear in the general parade: Farragut, No. 10; John A. Logan, No. 13; George H. Thomas, No. 15; Henry Wilson, No. 17, and George U. Morris, No. 19. 2. The posts of the Grand Army, includ-

OF PATRIOTIC

Arrangements Made for the Exercises Tomorrow.

WOMEN AND THE G. A. R.

have been working very hard to make this Memorial day one long to be remembered in the Department of the Potomac Today they are engaged as they have been for the week past, in making baskets, sashes and emblems, and Grand Army Hall is the scene of busy workers, at least 100 women hustling about, completing the work for tomorrow's ceremonies. The subcommittee of the committee of the G. A. R. on decoration, is composed of ten ladies, selected by the commander from the various corps. Mrs. Anna M. Hamilton is chairman of the subcommittee, and her aids are: Mrs. Emma A. V. Anderson, national aid; Mrs. Susie H. Rose, departmental I. and I. officer; Mrs. Eliza Nailor of Lincoln Corps; Mrs. Isabel Worrell Ball, departmental secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Montis, departmental senior vice president; Mrs. Katie Harris of Potomac, and Mrs.

Maria H. Chapman.

These are all on duty, and are making things hum. Wagon after wagon load of flowers and "greens" have been carried to G. A. R. Hall, and yet they are asking for more. The members are arranging 300 set pleces for the officers' section, and the other sections will be treated quite as generously. It was not until two years ago that the precedent of placing elaborate floral pieces on the tombs of officers was established, and then it was not done by the Relief Corps. They hope to make this the last year that this distinction is made, as they feel that the grave of the humblest private is as sacred as the grave of one who wore the eagles. Then, too, the friends and relatives of the officers remember them with lavish profusion, and the simple tribute of a few blossoms "in memorium" should be quite sufficient.

The Woman's Relief Corps is being ably aided in the work of decoration by the Ladies' Aid to the Sons of Veterans. They have charge of section E, and are preparing set pieces for all of the hundreds of graves, a stupendous bit of decoration, on a scale never before attempted at Arlingother sections will be treated quite as gen-a scale never before attempted at Arlington. As aids to both orders the Sons of Veterans are quite equal to the task set them, and are distinct rivals of the "boys" their fathers, who compose the Department of the Potomac, G. A. R.

The Chorus of Girls. One of the most willing aids in the memorial work has been found in the chorus of young girls whom Prof. Harry W. Howard has been training. These girls are none of them over fifteen, but they are very enthusiastic in their desire to help. They will aid the Relief Corps in decorating all the graves, and will then form about the tomb of the unknown, and as about the tomb of the unknown, and as they strew the green sward about the monument with flowers from their pretty baskets they will sing "Tread Softly, a Soldier's Sleeping Here." They have been in training a long time by Prof. Howard in little operettas, and many of them were heard not long since in Jack the Giant Killer. They sing with feeling and much expression.

Killer. They sing with feeling and much expression.

Twenty-two of the girls—there are one hundred and twelve in all—will carry each a floral letter over a foot in length. As they stand grouped about the tomb of the unknown, these letters will read: "Our Country's Unknown Dead." These girls will meet at Grand Army Hall, on Pennsylvania avenue, at 8 o'clock on Thursday morning, where transportation will be furnished them, and they will be in charge of Mrs. Isabel Eail. They will lunch with the Woman's Relief Corps and G. A. R. The S. O. V.'s and their lady aids will also lunch with the G. A. R. and its auxiliary. The girls will be attired in white, and wearled and blue sashes furnished by the Rellef ted and blue sashes furnished by the Relief Corps.

has had in charge the memorial arrangements for the department, has for her assistants Miss A. V. Tompkins, Mrs. Dickerson, Mrs. Fordham, Miss Eva Chase, Mrs.

Parker, Bridget & Co.'s BIG SELLING

Half Day Tomorrow. The store will be open late tonight and a half day

Those $10, $12 and $15 Suits for $8.25.

You've noticed that the others have tried to head off our $8.25 "Sale" by advertising cheap $5 and $7.50 suits for $7.50—but it would not work! Now, we want it distinctly understood that we are not lowering our high standard of quality -not selling poor suits, and won't! We are after the fine trade-the "finest" trade-the tailors' trade—and we are getting it by giving them as good a suit as they ever had for a half to two-thirds what they have been paying. To freshen up the $8.25 assortment we have put in this morning a line of about 180 fine $14 and $15 Suits, which we did not feel able to include in the $8.25 lot at first--cost us more. You'll be asked $14 and $15 or more elsewhere for them-or may be a few can be had of a certain clothier for $12.50—but why pay him the $4.25 extra, when you get them here for $8.25?

Sale of Boys' Suits Tomorrow. $1.75 and $3.

We do not care if we don't make a penny on Boys' Clothing. We are willing to wait until they grow up, for if we once sell them we will sell them al-

Steered by an Air Jet.

A writer in the Deutsche Bauzeitung has some ideas in regard to the method of propelling the airships of the future, which have a certain interest, although they are not altogether new. Regarding as necessary conditions of flight through the air the employment of sustaining planes and of some propelling force, he says that, instead of the revolving helix commonly used, it would be, in many respects, advantageous to employ a simple jet of air to produce the reaction necessary for driving the craft in any desired direction. The water jet has already been applied to the propulsion of steamers, with rather indifferent success; but he points out that for sailing through the air a jet which could

Ten Thousand Americans Assembled m Downs Today-Ideal Weather for Racing.

EPSOM, Eng., May 29.-Americans held a foremost place today in the crowds which turned out to witness the Derby race. It is estimated that there were 10.000 men and women from the United States upon the grounds when the first race of the day was called. The most prominent of the trans-Atlantic visitors chose the old way of reaching Epsom, traveling on coaches, which started from Trafalgar square and from the front of Savoy Hotel One of the first of these coaches to leave the Savoy carried Joseph H. Manley of Augusta, Me., and Mr. Whitelaw Reid. A second coach carried Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. O'Neil of Pittsburg, Pa., E. T. Barney of Cincinnati, Ohio, W. G. MacKey of Chicago and Mrs. Reeves and daughter of Baltimore, Md. A third coach had among its passengers Mr. C. L. Crane of St. Louis, Mo., Dr. C. H. Strong of Ohio, W. S. Ferguson of Pittsburg, Pa., and Congressman McCall of Massachusetts.

In addition to these there were a large

In addition to these there were a large number of coaching parties composed of prominent New Yorkers. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Grant, ex-Judge Lester Holmes, Mr. Peter Morris, Mr. Henry Gilsey, Mr. Center Hitchcock, Mr. Charles Frohman, Mr. William Bininger and Mr. John E. Giles.

The great charges which have marked each succeeding Derby day for several years past were more marked than ever today. Now all the English "swells" avoid the long, dusty, noisy journey which particular the long, dusty, noisy journey which particular the long, dusty, noisy journey which particular the several particular than a several particular t years past were more marked than ever today. Now all the English "swells" avoid the long, dusty, noisy journey, which necessitates a start from London before 9 a.m., and instead they breakfast quietly at their usual hour, take their usual airing in Hyde Park, and at 12 or 1 o'clock proceed quietly to Victoria or Waterlop station and are whisked down to the race course in half an hour

But there were the usual crowds of min-But there were the usual crowds of minstrels, gypsies, boxers, men on stilts and the other familiar features of Epsom down on Derby day; but there was a sort of forced galety about the affair.

Bright sunshine and a gentle breeze brought a very large number to the downs. Nasrulia Khan, the second son of the Ameer of Afghanistan, who accompanied the Prince of Wales and his suite to the races, was the center of much curiosity. The Duke of Cambridge, the Duke and Duchess of Saxe-Coturg-Gotha, the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duke and Duchess of York, the Duke and Duchess of Teck and other members of the royal family were also present. Duchess of York, the Duke and Duchess of Teck and other members of the royal family were also present. The summer toilets of the ladles formed a magnificent blaze of color, and in every way the scene was one which must have delighted all present. There were fifteen starters as follows: Beckhampton, Curzon, Galoplan, Kirkconnel. The Owl, Laveno, Le Var, Raconteur, Sir Visto, Slowstep, Solaro, Chibiabos, The Brook, Villiers and Salvington.

The betting at the start was 9 to 1 Carleton, will be entertained at lanch by the wife of the department commander. Mrs. Emma A. V. Anderson, and members of the department staff.

The decorations on the tomb of Gen. Sheridan will probably be handsomer this year than ever before. Mrs. Sheridan and her friends, always place lavish decorations upon it, and Commander Anderson has received a letter from Geo. H. Thomas Post of Chicago, of which Sheridan was a member, saying that they would send to him a large emblem and bronze marker for the grave of their dead comrade. The commander accepted the duty, and wrote that he would receive the emblem and turn it over to the Woman's Relief Corps, who, having the grave in charge, would see that it was properly placed.
